BRIDGET WHEATLEY Jeweller

I instinctively design jewellery with a natural curiosity embracing nature and the ancient world in silver, gold, brass and colourful stones using various techniques. After graduating from the Birmingham school of jewellery in 1983, I am continuing to develop original collections of unique and handmade jewellery.

In 2015 I moved my studio to the end of my garden after having a shop presence on Cowley Road for 20 years. From my new studio I continue to evolve my collections, develop more one-off pieces and do bespoke work.
